Yellow Fever.

DECATUR, Ala., Oct. 23.—One new case, Mary Kelly, a colored nurse, is reported. Mr. H. C. Jones is dying.

THE figures of the Commissioners of Emigration for last year show that of 371,719 steerage passengers landed at Castle Garden 151,023 remained in New York. In other words, over 40 per cent. of the immigration to that port stick in the metropolis instead of scattering. These people finally spread to some extent. This goes to show that a vast proportion of immigrants are induced to cross the ocean by lying promises that they will get work the moment they land, when the truth is that the market for unskilled labor—of which immigration almost entirely consists now—is overstocked. Here are the figures for last year, showing where the immigrants landed at Castle Garden were bound to:

Arizona	90	Idaho	115
Arkansas	114	Indian Territory	324
Alabama	141	Kentucky	761
British Columbia	1,612	Kansas	3,794
Connecticut	7,908	Louisiana	561

The figures for this year, when they are prepared, will probably show a startling change for the worse.

Estimating Weight of Cattle.

No rule will lead to anything more than an approximation to the actual weight. Every stock-raiser should have his own scales. The following is as good a rule as any for estimating the weight of animals by measure: Multiply the girth in inches, taken immediately behind the shoulder blade, by the length in inches from the square of the buttock to the point of the shoulder blade, and divide the product by 144, which gives the number of superficial feet. If the animal has a girth of 3 to 5 feet, multiply the number of superficial feet by 16, and you will have its approximate weight. If the girth is 5 to 7 feet multiply by 23, and 7 to 9 feet multiply by 31. If less than 3 feet girth, as in the cases of small calves, hogs, sheep, etc., multiply by 11. Allowance must be made for the build of the animal, conditions of fattening, etc. The above rule is for grass-fed cattle; it being estimated that in the cases of grass-fatted sheep, calves, and kine, or steers, each superficial foot, when the girth is 3 feet or under, represents a weight of 11 pounds; when 3 to 5, 16 pounds; when 5 to 7 feet, 23 pounds, and when 7 to 9 feet, 31 pounds. Thus an ox measuring eight feet girth and seven and a half feet in length should weigh about 8x7½x31 pounds. Under this rule it is customary to deduct one-twelfth of the whole for half-fatted cattle; from 15 to 20 pounds on a cow having had calves, and if not fat an equal amount.—Inter-Ocean.

GROWING BRIGHTER.

The Democratic Skies are Brightening Every Day—The Outlook in the West.

Special to THE SENTINEL:

NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 23.—The case of Jordan, one of the Pennsylvania contingent from the republican headquarters who is held under $2,500 bail to answer for the offense of false registration, will probably be about the end of the much advertised attempt of the republican manipulators to dispose of New York according to their own pleasure. The fact is, that these men know nothing about the operations of our laws, and failed to realize that they could not repeat operations that were comparatively easy when the republicans were in power and had control of the federal machinery for the supervision of national elections. Now between the local authorities and the United States officials a person guilty of false registration, one who attempted to offer or agreed to take a bribe, would be sure to meet with what is commonly called "Jersey Justice," whether his offenses were committed in New York, New Jersey, or Connecticut. The tactics of the republican headquarters are those practiced by their party in the senate, mere buncombe. It seems to be their opinion that by trading on their reputation for villiany they can overawe the electors of democratic communities. In this they are so monstrously mistaken that they are beginning to perceive it themselves and are apologizing for the presence of Leed, Voorhees, Magee, and Howard Diston and Wylee, of Pennsylvania notoriety, in this city, and even the Pinkerton men who were brought over here to make a show, are growing scarcer as figures in the play of beubeas.

The democratic national committee is in receipt of information from Illinois and from other northwestern states, including Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota, which show that, instead of trying the local false impressions, about democrats in New York, Connecticut, and New Jersey, the republicans would do well to be thinking themselves of their own share in the national legislature and looking after electoral votes that were cast for their candidate in 1884. There has been no disposition among the democrats to make claims to states heretofore republican, but the evidence from all quarters is astonishing in its concurrence in the statement that the further west an observer goes, the stronger is the popular sentiment from democrats for tax reform and an economical government. Even at the republican headquarters there is great discontent with the management of Senator Quay. He has preserved the appearance of reliance and the tremendous reserve power so long that every one was astonished with the feebleness of the interview that he caused to be sent last night to every New York paper. It asserts that the republican headquarters have made three distinct canvasses of the town under three distinct false pretenses, one of them being that they were agents of a company, engaged to gather statistics for a grand real estate syndicate which would furnish residence and lodgings to all persons not owners of real estate at a reasonable rate. According to Quay's pretty story, these men were remarkably successful and brought to him a very complete canvass of the town as to the ownership and occupancy of its dwellings.

Trow's directory is the standard institution for the compilation of residence statistics. In the preparation of their annual volume, this company used 175 men long skilled in the business, during their three weeks preliminary work of collecting the names for the directory. The city directory does not contain the names of all qualified voters, on account of the shifting population of the great city and of the desire of many to escape detention in town or the missing of service in their employment, by evading jury duty or a national guard duty, etc. After the names are gathered in a large force of experts is employed for an equally long time in collecting and arranging them before anything like a list of city residents, who are lessees of premises or heads of families, can be made out.

The absurdity of Mr. Quay's three canvasses of voters is made evident by this comparison and on inquiry made today at a hundred different points show that none of his canvassers ever appeared to make a single inquiry and that the whole statement made by him is simply a falsehood, uttered as a part of the game of bluff, the legitimacy of which, as a politician's weapon, he defends. All the rest of the republican tactics during the past month are of a piece with this, and the idea of seriously controlling an election of the president of the United States by such trashy buncombe is utterly absurd to every reflecting mind.

A novel and somewhat surprising turn was given to the betting here last night by the wager of $100 to $90, at the Hoffman house, that Cleveland will carry Illinois. The bet was made by Mr. H. M. Brinklebaun, of Chicago, with a Chicago wheat broker, who took the bet after some delay. The backer of the democratic side offered to repeat the wager, but found no one to take it, although he waited at the hotel for some time for the return of the people who went over to the republican state headquarters, at the Fifth-avenue hotel, as they said, for the purpose of getting money. The Chicago democrat finally called on their crowd to witness the occurrence, as proof that the republicans had no confidence in holding the state of Illinois for their candidates. This is one of many cases that show the way the political winds are blowing from the westward.

A meeting of the conference committee of the business men's democratic organizations was held at the Stevens house yesterday afternoon, at which representatives from the stock, produce, maritime, consolidated, coffee, cotton and metal exchanges, lawyers, jewelers, boatsmen, harbor men, hide and leather men, custom house brokers and others were present. It was unanimously resolved to send an invitation to Governor Hill to address the business men of New York at Steinway hall, upon such evening as may suit his convenience, during the last week of the campaign in behalf of the election of Cleveland, Thurman and Hill.

Chairman Brice, of the national campaign comittee, was present at the conference by invitation, and for the information of the meeting he stated that from the reports he had received of the canvass made, that he had every confidence of the democratic electoral ticket carrying New York, New Jersey and Connecticut. There was a great deal of enthusiasm by the members present relative to the parade on Saturday afternoon next, at which President Cleveland will review the procession on Fifth avenue, opposite the World's monument. There will probably be no less than 50,000 men in the parade. J. T.

CRUEL MURDER.

A Desperado Kills His Wife and Shoots Two Other Persons.

WINCHESTER, Ind., Oct. 23.—Victor Hill drove to the residence of his father-in-law, two and one-half miles from town, asked to see his wife and baby and being refused, drew a pistol and shot Zimey Moffett in the back as the latter was leaving the room, inflicting only a slight wound. He then shot Mrs. Warren Harper, his sister-in-law, but her corset glanced the ball and it inflicted only a slight bruise. He then shot his wife through the heart, killing her instantly. After this he fled to the woods, followed feebly by old man Moffett with a loaded musket. Mrs. Warren Harper took the musket from her father, pursued Hill, and fired at him with unknown effect. Hundreds of armed men are pursuing him.

A TRAGIC SCENE.

Is Enacted in Church—A Man Kills His Wife.

FULTON, Mo., Oct. 23.—Last night, Jackson Emerson entered the Pilgrim's Rest church, and without a word of warning, drew a revolver and fired at his wife. Missing her, a second shot was fired It entered the back of her head and the woman fell dead. The congregation stampeded and the preacher jumped out of the second story window. Emerson is in jail and there are strong threats of lynching him. The parties are colored.

Arrested For Embezzlement.

EAST SAGINAW, Oct. 23.—Albert A. Shaver, ex-county treasurer of Clare, is under arrest on the charge of appropriating between $1,000 and $1,800 of the county funds during his term of office in 1884. On the night of May 14, 1884, Shaver was found bound and gagged in his office, and he declared he had been robbed.

The Italy Disaster.

ROME, Oct. 23.—The official report of the railway disaster near Potensea, limits the number of persons killed to nineteen, and the number of injured to fifty-five.

John M. Bayer and Fred Helling have been admitted to citizenship.

GROSS NEGLIGENCE !

The Trainmen Held Responsible and Arrested for the Recent Railroad Horrors in Pennsylvania.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 23.—The coroner's jury in the case of the recent railroad disaster at Washington, Pa., rendered a verdict last night placing the responsibility for the accident on Conductor Heck, of the shifting engine, and charging him with involuntary manslaughter in causing the deaths of Engineer Noonan and Fireman McAuliffe, the testimony showing he had ordered the switch open and then failed to see that it had been closed. Edward Boon, the new switchman who opened the switch, was condemned for gross negligence. The coroner has issued a warrant for the arrest of Heck.

MAUCH CHUNK, Pa., Oct. 23.—The district attorney shortly before midnight last night issued warrants for the arrest of Henry Cook and Thomas Major, engineers, John Mulhearn and Joseph Kohl, lookouts, James Hannigan, flagman, and Charles Terry and Joseph Keithline, conductors, charging them with gross negligence and wilful misconduct and for failing to observe the precaution and rules which it was their duty to obey and observe while they were employed in the conveyance of passengers for the Lehigh Valley railroad company, causing a great accident at Mud Run, which resulted in killing and injuring many persons.

M'KEE RANKIN.

His "Runaway Wife" and the Final Denouement.

Mr. McKee Rankin, one of the best actors on the stage, comes to the Temple to-night in his new play, "The Runaway Wife." It is a piece full of lights and shadows, of quiet humor and touching pathos, and it points a moral that will always bear repetition in productions of this character. Mr. Rankin as Arthur Eastman portrays an American artist who marries a woman above himself in wealth and social position. Reverses come—financial ruin, and poverty and loss of eyesight. With his wife and child he seeks refuge with his brother. The latter's wife, as represented in Hester Eastman by Miss Florence Knight, is a typical termagant, whose heart is caloused to the sufferings and hardships of her husband's relatives, and who finally drives them out into the world. The wife, Lady Alice, through the machinations of Lord Charnleigh, a gallant, is induced to go to England as a companion to friends, and he afterwards succeeds in marrying her by representing that both her husband and son are dead. The youth grows to manhood, becomes a famous artist, and by a strange conspiracy of circumstances comes in contact with his mother. The details leading to a happy denouement are made up in five acts laid in America and England.

PERISHED IN THE FLAMES.

A Child of Mr. and Mrs. Mast Loses Its Life in Their Burning Home.

MICHIGAN CITY, Oct. 23.—This morning the residence of Frederick Mast, east of the city, was burned to the ground and his young son perished in the flames. The child and its infant brother were in the house alone at the time. The mother, who was at work in the field, observed the house in flames. She hastened to rescue her children. The younger one was saved, but the elder was suffocated by the smoke and burned to a crisp. The mother was also badly burned.

Expelled for Upholding Harrison.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 23.—At a meeting last night of the Central Labor union of Indiana, resolutions were passed denouncing and expelling from the union Armstrong assembly, which recently met here and without a quorum passed resolutions excusing Harrison's labor record and reflecting upon assembly 106, which had previously taken official action regarding that record for the information of labor unions throughout the country.

GEN. SHERIDAN is reported as saying about a year ago: "If I only had the simple faith of my wife, but I have not. To me the future seems oblivion. If we have a future beyond the grave then we must have had an existence before this life. These are mysteries which I have often thought over, but I cannot fathom them. How much comfort the great mass of mankind get out of that little and yet potential instinct summed up in the word faith. I was born into the Catholic Church and cannot get out of it. But I have my own views. We must do our duty in life. We are here and must make the best of it."

THE CHINESE.

A Party of Them Coming From Alaska Have Trouble in Landing on the Pacific Coast.

TACOMA, Wash. Ty., Oct. 23.—Over twenty Chinamen came down from Alaska on the steamer Ancon on her last trip. The Ancon, coming down, went straight to Port Townsend, not touching at Victoria as usual, to avoid any trouble in regard to their landing here. Collector of Customs Brooks, however, refused to allow them to land because they had passed through British waters in reaching here. A writ of habeas corpus was sued out here, and while it was pending the steamer Mexico arrived here from San Francisco with six Chinamen, the steamer having stopped en route at Victoria, B. C.

The tow was stopped and a lawyer from Townsend hastened to join in the habeas corpus proceedings. Judge Allyn decides that under the law, which decrees passengers on American ships to be under the jurisdiction of the United States, these Chinamen, bound from one American port to another American port, not having left the ship at any time, had not been out of the United States, even though the ship had touched a foreign port. The Chinamen were allowed to land.

LINSEED OIL TRUST.

How a Fort Wayne Firm Realizes a Handsome Profit Out of the "Private Affair."

The New York Times says:

During the year 1887 the price of linseed oil was raised about 37 per cent., or from 38 to 52 cents a gallon, by the practical suppression of competition through the formation of a linseed oil trust in the west. The price since the close of 1887 has been even higher than 52 cents. The duty is 25 cents a gallon or about 55 per cent. the value of foreign oil. This is the barrier behind which the combination raises the price for consumers in the home market.

Taking up this text the Indianapolis Sentinel remarks:

There is a wealthy firm in Fort Wayne—S. Bash & Co.—which has a practical monopoly of the grain and produce of that city. This firm also runs an oil mill, which has been idle for some time, the trust paying the proprietors more for keeping the mill closed than they could make by running it. Meantime, the member of the firm who manages the mill is in Europe with his family. The trust, of course, by killing competition among the buyers of flaxseed, enables the members of the trust to mutually control its prices. It dictates the price which it will pay farmers for the raw material, and also the price at which it will sell its products to consumers. It is emphatically a "soft thing" for its members, and the Sentinel is not surprised to learn that S. Bash & Co. are loading down every farmer who visits their warehouse with high tariff documents and working like Trojans to get votes for free whisky and monopoly taxes from those who deal with them.

If the Mills bill becomes a law the linseed oil trust will be "busted." The senate bill, however, "protects" the trust fully, by leaving the 55 per cent. duty, which has made the trust possible, untouched. This is pretty rough on all who use paints, which includes nearly everybody, but it is very nice for S. Bash & Co., who agree with James G. Blaine, that trusts are private affairs, with which the public has no right to interfere.

The member of the firm referred to by the Indianapolis Sentinel is Mr. Joseph Hughes, who is now in Europe with his family. It is said he receives $5,000 a year for closing his mill. All the workmen whom he employed, save two watchmen, are turned out to seek new employment or starve. Ask these men if trusts and high protective tariff taxes are a national blessing and then step down and see the closed mill at No. 20 West Columbia street. Down with monopolies.

SKIPPED WITH $500,000 !

Thomas Axworthy, the City Treasurer of Cleveland, a Defaulter to That Amount.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 23.—Nearly every man, woman or child in Cleveland has heard of City Treasurer Thomas Axworthy, and thousands are personally acquainted with him. He is perhaps the most popular democratic politician in Northern Ohio. So highly is he regarded that he could have been nominated for congress this year if he had but said the word.

In business circles he has cut a very big figure and the statement was often made that whatever he touches turns to gold. He has real estate, ships that sail the lakes, coal mines and iron ranges and many other valuable investments. When at home he is a prominent figure on the street and at every turn is greeted by old and young, rich and poor, republcans and democrats.

He has not been seen recently and the officials at the city hall have not grasped his hand for many a long day, therefore his absence has caused some confusion and much inquiry. On Saturday the mayor's clerk, Briggs, submitted to the city board of revision a partial report of his investigation into the business methods of the municipal officials.

A telegram of inquiry was sent to the Windsor hotel, at New York, and the answer returned that Axworthy had arrived there September 29, in the morning, and departed in the evening for Montreal, Canada. There all trace of him was lost. Meanwhile his bondsmen began an investigation. They are United States Senator H. B. Payne and J. H. Wade, jr., pledged for $50,000. They, together with the leading city officials and attorneys, were in consultation all last night and adjourned early this morning.

Each refuses to say a word, but all the details of Mr. Axworthy's absence, no doubt, will be known to-day.

The finance committee of the common council, after a hasty examination of the books, state they believe the loss to the city by reason of Axworthy's disappearance is $500,000.

Senator Payne and J. H. Wade, jr., boudsmen on the city treasurer, at 2 o'clock this morning, filed petitions and affidavits in the common pleas court, praying for an attachment against Mr. Axworthy's assets, real estate and other property.

The schooner Republic, and three-quarters interest in the schooner, Page, were attached, and his money and stocks in local banks were garnisheed. The sheriff is now attaching the real property of the missing treasurer, including a farm on Loraine street, outside of the city limits, and his summer residence on Lake avenue.

The National Bank of Commerce also entered suit for $25,000 to recover on a promissory note they had discounted. It is said Axworthy has $200,000 with him.

FRUIT HOUSE.

No Universal Remedy

has yet been discovered; but, as at least four-fifths of human diseases have their source in Impure Blood, a medicine which restores that fluid from a depraved to a healthy condition comes as near being a universal cure as any that can be produced. Ayer's Sarsaparilla affects the blood in each stage of its formation, and is, therefore, adapted to a greater variety of complaints than any other known medicine.

Boils and Carbuncles,

which defy ordinary treatment, yield to Ayer's Sarsaparilla after a comparatively brief trial.

Mr. C. K. Murray, of Charlottesville, Va., writes that for years he was afflicted with boils which caused him much suffering. These were succeeded by carbuncles, of which he had several at one time. He then began the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and after taking three bottles, the carbuncles disappeared, and for six years he has not had even a pimple.

That insidious disease, Scrofula, is the fruitful cause of innumerable complaints, Consumption being only one of many equally fatal. Eruptions, ulcers, sore eyes, glandular swellings, weak and wasted muscles, a capricious appetite, and the like, are pretty sure indications of a scrofulous taint in the system. Many otherwise beautiful faces are disfigured by pimples, eruptions, and unsightly blotches, which arise from impure blood, showing the need of Ayer's Sarsaparilla to remedy the evil.

All sufferers from blood disorders should give Ayer's Sarsaparilla a fair trial,—avoiding all powders, ointments, and washes, and especially cheap and worthless compounds, which not only fail to effect a cure, but more frequently aggravate and confirm the diseases they are fraudulently advertised to remedy.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

For Surveyor—Henry Fischer.
For County Commissioners—First district, Jasper W Jones, of Jackson township; Second district, Henry Bullerman, St. Joe township; Third district, John H. Brennan, City.

THE republicans are going into the forgery business, but their little plans were cut exceedingly short in New York.

THE Gazette reproduces a paragraph reflecting on Catholic priests, and attributes it to Judge Thurman. The paragraph is as false as the writer.

JUDGE GRESHAM to the Gazette:—"Am glad to see you making such a heroic fight for county commissioner. General Harrison and the tariff are side issues. Success to you."

THANKSGIVING day approaches and a grateful nation will read Mr. Cleveland's proclamation with the joyous certainty of four years more of honest government and business prosperity.

THE Gazette has abandoned all hope of Candidate Harrison and Colonel Hovey, and is frantically grasping for a county commissionership. But then the Gazette would rather elect a county commissioner than General Harrison.

JUDGE THURMAN is at home again and it will please the tender sensibilities of the News to know that the old Roman's health is 50 per cent. better than when he started. Mr. Blaine, however, is in exceedingly bad health and needs rest.

HON. LEON BAILEY, Indiana senator from the Indianapolis district, will speak in this city on Friday evening. Mr. Bailey will have something to say of General Harrison's record on the labor question. He knows him personally and too well for the chilly statesman's comfort.

WHILE in Fort Wayne the other day Governor Gray made the statemeut, in private conversation, that the democrats have no hope of carrying Indiana.—Gazette.

Only a week ago, at Indianapolis, Governor Gray personally contradicted a similar falsehood.

MAJOR CALKINS is not so anxious for a joint discussion as he was. It was arranged by the democrats to have Mr. G. W. Bell, of Iowa, meet the major at Sellersburg, Ind., but Mr. Calkins cancelled the date and refused to speak. You can't convince republicans down there that Major Calkins is anxious for a joint talk.

THE weather forecasts published in THE SENTINEL daily have come to be a household necessity, and are indeed trustworthy. It is of the greatest importance to every person to know twelve and twenty-four hours in advance the sort of weather to arrange for. The government weather predictions are but a feature of THE SENTINEL'S splendid telegraph service.

THE Gazette is quoting Hon. Charles McCulloch in its advocacy of local reforms that were happily accomplished by the democrats two years. This, of course, is a compliment to Mr. McCulloch and THE SENTINEL wants to direct the attention of the voters of Allen county to the fact that Mr. McCulloch and his honored father, ex-Secretary Hugh McCulloch, are now asking the people of the nation to support President Cleveland and put a stop to the nefarious tariff tax robberies.

ROLL up your sleeves democrats, and go to work for Cleveland and good government. Treat everybody kindly and honestly. A man who can't talk about the different candidates without becoming abusive and angry, should never attempt to talk politics or engage in a political controversy. Be a man at all times and treat every person as you would like to have them treat you. Never throw mud. It may please some to stand by and see you soil and blacken your hands, but they will soon laugh at your foolishness and be the first ones to criticise your actions.

OLD SOLDIERS! ATTENTION!

Read What Cleveland's Administration Has Done for You.

In view of the rabid attacks by republican stump speakers and those who desire to make the soldiers of the late war believe that President Cleveland's administration has been hostile to them, it is well to consider some of the decisions that have been made in the office of the second comptroller of the United States treasury department at Washington, in which office final settlement of all back-pay and bounty claims is made.

Under these decisions thousands of claims have been rendered in favor of the soldier, and tens of thousands of dollars have gone into their pockets which otherwise would never have reached them. During the war a great many soldiers took what was called a "French leave," never intending to desert. Their parents and family were sick, or they had business to look after, and knowing that they could not get a furlough, went to their homes, and while absent, were marked as deserters, although they afterward returned to their companies and regiments. Hence, in such cases, great injustice had been done to the soldiers in many instances where they were claiming back-pay and bounty.

In May, 1885, President Cleveland appointed Judge I. H. Maynard, of New York, a democrat, second comptroller. Judge Maynard held this office until April, 1887, at which time he was appointed assistant secretary of the United States treasury.

In April, 1887, President Cleveland appointed Sigourney Butler, of Massachusetts, a democrat, second comptroller to succeed Judge Maynard.

The following decisions were made by Comptrollers Maynard and Butler and, as will be seen by reading them, are more favorable to the soldiers and veterans of the late war and Mexican war than all the decisions on these subjects ever made by the second comptrollers from Lincoln to President Arthur:

SOLDIERS CHARGED WITH DESERTION.

Volunteers charged with desertion, who voluntarily returned to the service within a reasonable time and while the war was still flagrant, are considered as merely absentees without leave, and not as deserters. The voluntary return under such circumstances rebuts the presumption raised by the charge on the rolls. The same principle is applied when both the desertion and the return were after the cessation of hostilities.

Deserters who return under the president's proclamation and afterwards served, do not forfeit the right to bounty if their service, after deducting the time of their absence, is sufficient.

SOLDIERS CAPTURED BY THE ENEMY.

A soldier captured by the enemy while absent without leave is considered as on duty, and becomes entitled to pay that he would have forfeited for absence without leave.

SOLDIERS DISCHARGED ON ACCOUNT OF ABSENCE.

If a soldier is borne on the rolls as discharged on account of "absence from his command," evidence is admissable to show the cause of the absence, and, if it be shown that the cause was a wound, he is deemed to have been discharged for wounds, and is entitled to bounty accordingly.

ARREST BY CIVIL AUTHORITIES.

A soldier in arrest by the civil authorities is not treated as absent without proper authority, unless he is convicted. If he is released by the civil authorities without trial, guilt cannot be presumed.

WHEN TIME PASSED IN ARREST COUNTS FOR BOUNTY.

Where a soldier was held in arrest by the military authorities, and afterwards restored to duty without trial, and no record exists showing the cause of the arrest—the presumption of innocence remains, and the time passed in arrest counts for bounty.

DEATH FROM EXCESSES IN SERVICE IS NOT A BAR.

Soldiers who are killed, or die from injuries received, in attempts to desert, or in mutiny, are not considered as dying "in service" within the meaning of the bounty laws; they are in a status of disgrace. But death resulting from excesses is considered death in service, because the soldier has not intentionally separated himself from the service, as in the former class of cases.

DISCHARGE FOR INEFFICIENCY DOES NOT FORFEIT TRAVEL PAY.

An officer dropped from the rolls on account of inefficiency, or for other reasons, provided it be not "by way of punishment for an offense" is entitled to travel allowance to place of entering the service. So in cases of resignation, unless the resignation is voluntary and for the personal convenience of the officer.

DISCHARGE FOR HUMANITY'S SAKE.

A soldier who is discharged upon the request of friends, to enable him to care for a sick parent, is held to be discharged for purposes of humauity, and not as a personal favor, and, accordingly, is not deprived by such discharge of "additional" bounty under the act of July 28, 1866, if otherwise entitled.

DISCHARGE FOR PROMOTION IS NOT BY WAY OF FAVOR.

Promotions are presumed to be made for the good of the service, and not by way of favor; consequently soldiers who were discharged for promotion are entitled, if their enlisted service is sufficient, to bounty under the act of July 28, 1866.

DISABILITY PRIOR TO ENLISTMENT DOES NOT PRECLUDE FROM BOUNTY.

The rule established by Secretary Stanton that a soldier discharged for a disability existing prior to enlistment, notwithstanding his service has exceeded two years, is debarred from bounty under the act of July 28, 1866, is reversed, because it has not authority of law and works an essential injustice.

SERVICE UNDER SEVERAL ENLISTMENTS COUNTED.

General orders 191, of 1863, prescribing nine months previous service as the condition of the right to veteran muster, is now so construed that the condition is deemed fulfilled by nine months' service in the army as an enlisted man, or as an officer, at any time, whether before or after the beginning of the war of the rebellion, and whether the service was continuous or was under several enlistments.

SOLDIERS MUSTERED OUT IN THE FIELD.

Soldiers who were mustered out in the field are entitled to pay and allowances after such muster-out, as long as they were held together under discipline, and in the absence of direct evidence it will be presumed that they were so held together, until date of payment, if the muster-out was in the enemy's country and the payment was made to them all at the same time.

CONSIDERATION FOR WOUNDED SOLDIERS DISCHARGED FROM HOSPITALS.

Soldiers in hospitals at the time of the muster-out of their companies are considered, generally, to have ceased to be soldiers at the date of such muster-out. But if a soldier suffering from a wound is discharged from the hospital after the muster out of the company, he is entitled to the benefit of the act of March 3, 1865, and to the bounty nnder it, as for one discharged for a wound, if this is more advantageous to him than to be treated as mustered out for the same cause for which the company was mustered out.

DISCHARGE FOR WOUNDS RECEIVED IN LINE OF DUTY.

The act of March 3, 1865, provided that any soldier discharged by reason of wounds received in the line of duty should be entitled "to receive the same bounty as if he had served out his full term." The word "wound" as used in this statute had been construed to include injuries of various kinds such as those resulting from a stroke of lightning, or the loss of the use of a member from freezing, although there was no apparent abrasion or laceration of tissues.

DISCHARGE FOR SUN STROKE—DOUBTFUL CASES IN FAVOR OF THE SOLEIER.

In the case of a soldier discharged by reason of sun stroke, it was held that such disability resulted from a wound, within the meaning of the act, on the ground that no distinction should be made between the result of the immediate action of the rays of the sun and the effect of exposure to artificial heat, in which case resulting congestion or inflammation would be claimed as a wound; and on the further ground that congress had made an apparently arbitrary distinction between discharge for disease and discharge for wounds, "doubtful or border cases should be resolved in favor of the soldier."

EXTRA PAY FOR SERVICES IN MEXICAN WAR.

The right to the three months extra pay proper, provided by the acts of July 19, 1848, and February 19, 1879, for service in the Mexican war, is extended to all enlisted men and officers who were honorably discharged after serving in that war—notwithstanding the discharge was before the close of the war, and not for a disability incurred in the service.

EXTRA PAY FOR SOLDIERS EN ROUTE TO MEXICO.

Soldiers who were on the high seas en route for Mexico, at the date of the close of the Mexican war, May 30, 1848, are deemed to have been engaged "in prosecuting the war with Mexico," within the meaning of the act of July 19, 1848, so as to be entitled to three months extra pay proper provided for by that act, notwithstanding the fact that they did not reach Mexican waters until after the ratification of the treaty of peace.

IN FAVOR OF COLORED RECRUITS.

Sums not exceeding $10 paid to colored recruits in Virginia and the department of the south by Generals Butler and Gilmore, under orders of the war department of November 29 and December 22, 1863, are not bounties within the meaning of the bounty laws and should not be charged against bounties now due such recruits; they are in the nature of gratuities.

CARE FOR THE WIDOWS AND FATHERLESS.

The heirs of soldiers who died after receiving an honorable discharge, but prior to the passage of the act of April, 1872, are entitled to the bounty provided by that act to the same extent that the soldier would be, if living.

JUSTICE AND NOT CAST IRON RULES MUST GUIDE.

Proceedings before the accounting officers are of such a nature that cast iron rules of pleading are not admissible. An application filed with the auditor may, therefore, be treated either as an original application, or as an application for a re-opening of an old settlement, according as justice and the interests of the claimant may require.

AN astonishing disclosure has come across the ocean. For months prior to the death of the Kaiser William and his son the cable was loaded with impressive rumors about the consolidation of Russian troops on the European frontier. There were new railroads reported built by which supplies could be easily forwarded to the camps. There were additional canals to bring the grain centers nearer the railways. There were barracks along the Austrian border with huge bakeries, and there were cannon enough being hauled from arsenals and foundries to fortify an empire. The names of brigades and regiments were mentioned as being under orders; summaries of bulletins between headquarters and contingents in transit were telegraphed; and the total of Russian soldiery flying along toward the southwestern territory was put at nearly a million of men. After all this had been circumstantially detailed a correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette who has been over the ground pronounces the whole story a fiction. He declares that 4,000 men were dispatched from Moscow to Warsaw, and that this trifling transfer was seized by Bismarck as the occasion for one of the most colossal falsehoods, deliberately conceived, scientifically planned, and ruthlessly executed, which diplomacy has ever recorded. The Chancellor wanted a huge military purse and an increase of 700,000 in the army of Germany for purposes not well defined by either himself or his critic; but he wanted both. That, at least, is certain. To get them he invented the fable of the moving of Russian troops in gigantic masses upon the Austrian frontier. According to exposer of the canard the wily statesman waited until the alarm caused by the border stories, judicously repeated and solemnly confirmed, had cast all the European governments into panic. Germany was aroused from her torpor with the assurance that she was in danger on one side from Russia and on the other from France, with England as a probable ally. When the panic was at its height Bismarck went with melodramatic seriousness before the Reichstag. The Opposition party, led by Herr Windthorst, had been wheedled into submission by the Pope, at whose previous bidding they had antagonized the Iron Chancellor. The Socialists were coaxed into conciliation for the hour. He got his bill through. If this disclosure be correct, Bismarck surpasses Munchausen in invention.

E. S. STOKES has started a new downtown cafe in New York which is simply gorgeous. It has a floor of Italian mosaic, which alone cost $12,000. The octagonal bar is of Mexican onyx and white mahogany, and cost as much more. The supporting pillars are also of white mahogany and onyx, and there are enough of them to make a man wish he were rich. Silver beer-mugs and a collection of silver dishes are incidental to the general magnificence.

M. EIFFEL, the engineer and constructor of the hideous tower which, if public taste does not sooner secure its condemnation, is destined for years to disfigure a whole quarter of Paris, entertained the Parisian journalists at breakfast, says a Paris dispatch to the London Times. Its guests met on the first story of the edifice at a height of sixty meters. Doubtless they kept cool and collected, or otherwise the descent by a narrow winding staircase might have become a real danger. The object of the breakfast naturally was to direct the attention of the press to the beauty of the conception, which consists in placing a tower 300 meters high in a hollow, and in dwarfing by its exaggerated dimensions the normal proportions of the other exhibition buildings. M. Eiffel is an engineer of distinction who has executed works well worthy of praise. It was he who constructed the rotatory dome of the Nice observatory. The system is said to be one which will be introduced ultimately in all similar institutions, and the invention will of itself suffice to prevent the name of its author from being forgotten. M. Eiffel is the author of other useful inventions, but nothing he has done has brought him such reputation as the hideous iron maypole which he is about to erect to outrage the good taste of the Parisians. Nothing favorable can be said of its beauty, its purpose, or its use to any one but M. Eiffel and to the others interested in this undertaking which the republic has had the bad taste to subsidize. It has spread the name of its constructor to the ends of the earth. It will continue to exasperate men of taste and sense and to be an eyesore to all who live in or visit Paris when Gen. Boulanger and even Sarah Bernhardt have long been forgotten.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is a purely vegetable preparation, being free from injurious ingredients. It is peculiar in its curative power.

The experience of years furnishes the most convincing evidence that thousands of lives are annually saved by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It speedily cures all affections of the throat, bronchial tubes and lungs.

THERE is a curious coincidence about the duel fought between Gen. Boulanger and M. Floquet. It appears to have followed almost the precise course of the duel between Paul Astier and the Prince d' Athis, in Daudet's new novel. In both cases an expert swordsman sets out to kill an inexpert opponent, and in both cases the expert swordsman is put hors du combat, with a wound in the throat. In the novel, the wounded Paul recovers.

a man for groaning when he has Rheumatism or Neuralgia. The pain is simply awful. No torture in the ancient times was more painful than these twin diseases. But—ought't a man to be blamed if, having Rheumatism or Neuralgia, he wont use Ath-lo-pho-ros, when it has cured thousands who have suffered in the same way? It has cured hundreds after physicians have pronounced them incurable.

"The skill of five physicians could not cure me of Rheumatism which had settled in the hips, neck and shoulders. So intense was the pain that sleep was almost impossible. The first dose of Athlophoros gave me relief, and the third enabled me to sleep for four and a half hours without waking. I continued its use, and am now well."

My Poor Back!

That "poor back" is held responsible for more than its share of the sufferings of mankind. If your dog bites a man who kicks it, do you blame the dog? On the same principle the kidneys utter their protest against nervousness, impure blood, and resulting constipation. These force them to do extraordinary work in ridding the system of the poisons which are the result of effete matter retained in the blood. Then the sufferer says the back aches; the kidneys are diseased. "Not yet;" but they will be unless the nerves are strengthened, the blood purified, and the constipation removed. These are the causes of kidney troubles, and Paine's Celery Compound removes them quickly. With its tonic, purifying, and laxative effect, it also strengthens the weak kidneys, making it almost infallible in curing all diseases of the nerves and kidneys. If your hopes of cure have not been realized, try Paine's Celery Compound; it gives perfect health to all who complain of "their poor backs." Price $1.00.

Ringing Noises

In the ears, sometimes a roaring buzzing sound are caused by catarrh, that exceedingly remarkable and very common disease. Loss of smell or hearing also result from catarrh. Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, is a peculiarly successful remedy for this disease, which it cures by purifying the blood. If you suffer from catarrh, try Hood's Sarsaparilla, the peculiar medicine.

The breath of a chronic catarrh patient is often so offensive that he becomes an object of disgust. After a time ulceretion sets in, the spongy bones are attacked and frequently entirely destroyed. A constant source of discomfort is the dripping of the purulent secretions into the throat, sometimes producing inveterate bronchitis, which in its turn has been the exciting cause of pulmonary disease. The brilliant results which have attended its use for years past properly designate Ely's Cream Balm as by far the best and only cure.

"Come Into the Ark,"

The large audience that greeted Evangelist Updike last evening, at the Christian church, were thrilled with the burning words of warning and persuasion, as he preached from the language of God to Noah: "Come thou and thy house into the ark." He made a very sensible hit against the modern sin of men and women, claiming the right to choose their own way of coming to Christ or of getting into the church, by showing that there was only one door of entrance into the ark. Noah might have complained that he did not want to go in at the same place that the animals did. The rich man or woman must come into Christ the same way as the ragged boot-black. "There is no caste in the kingdom of Christ based upon worldly goods or pomp," says Mr. Updike, "but whosoever will, may come." At this point he always becomes extremely eloquent; as he feels that when he was a poor orphan it was this love of God that gave him a home in the church Don't fail to hear him to-night.

It is useless to attempt the cure of any disorder if the blood is allowed to remain impure. Neuralgia and rheumatism are traceable to a disordered condition of the blood, and in numberless cases have been cured by taking a few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

The Wabash people are greatly excited over a "big society item." No one knew of the secret marriage except those who participated and Miss Lettie Cleveland.

The Knights of Pythias has received an official letter from Nashville, Tenn., stating that yellow fever funds are still pouring in from all quarters of the Pythian jurisdiction, and requesting that all the lodges be informed emphatically that no more money is wanted. ECHOES OF THE RAIL.

Gossipy Items and the Day's News Budget Caught on the Wing During a Hasty Morning Stroll.

The Wabash road paid off its employes to-day at this point.

This is proving a fatal month for the railroads of the country.

The order to do night work at the Pittsburg car shops has been countermanded.

The Jenney electric light company sent an incandescent light plant to Dakota yesterday.

John Brown, of the Pittsburg storekeepers' offices, is an enthusiastic protective tariff advocate.

Fred Vodde, moulder at the Bass works, has gone to New Haven to attend the wedding of a relative.

Henry Heine, of the Pittsburg boiler shops, was called to Chicago this morning by the sickness of a relative.

The ladies of the Brotherhood of Locomotive engineers will give an oyster supper this evening at their hall.

Milo Brooks, baggagemaster at the Wabash depot, still holds onto the forlorn hope of Harrison's election.

Sam Robinson is filling the position at the Olds wheel works office made vacant by the resignation of Will Craig.

J. C. Matsch, foreman of the Bass foundry cleaning rooms, is a practical joker, and has something new every day.

Hugh Bennigan, moulder at the Bass works, still adheres to his determination to vote for Belva Lockwood for president.

Mr. John Slater, of the Pittsburg blacksmith shops, was one of the vice-presidents at the republican meeting last night.

Arthur Dougall, clerk at the Bass works, wears a huge grand army badge, such as was worn by the veterans at the recent Ohio encampment.

R. H. Harrison, foreman at the Pittsburg car shops, has a new style of bank book and played the bluff game on many of his friends last evening.

Ernest Rehling, jr., machinist in the Wabash shops, is suffering from an injured foot, which he had mashed a few days ago by a heavy piece of iron falling upon it.

Otto Mervin, of the Bass blacksmith shops, had his foot badly mashed this morning by an accident while at work and was compelled to lay off in consequence of it.

Ed. Challenger, clerk at the Pittsburg boiler shops, had the door to his office painted this morning and every one entering carried away with them a gentle reminder of the fact.

The boys in the Olds wheel works are congratulating Mr. J. J. Wiesner, the pleasant shipping clerk, over the arrival of a handsome girl baby at his home. He wears his honors gracefully.

J. S. Stevens, of Peru, chief train dispatcher of the Wabash, was in the city yesterday looking for cars. He reports that there has not been such a scarcity of cars for five years. The freight business of the railroads must be good.

Calvin S. Brice, the president of the Lake Erie and Western railroad, who is chairman of the democratic national campaign committee, says that every man in the employ of his company shall be permitted to vote according to the dictates of his conscience.

Arrangements have been made for a meeting of coke producers this week at Pittsburg, when prices will be advanced to $1.25 per ton, to take effect on November 1st. A slight increase in wages of the coke workers will probably follow the advance in the price of coke.

Mr. George B. Roberts, president of the Pennsylvania system of railroads, accompanied by the board of directors of those roads, will reach here from Grand Rapids, Mich., this evening, on their annual tour of inspection. The party will remain over night and return east on a special train Wednesday morning. Vice-President McCullough and General Manager McCrea are with the party. They have been making a northern trip for the purpose of visiting iron and ore mines of the Lake Superior regions.

REV. A. W. SEABREEZE

Is Called to the Rectorship of Trinity Episcopal Church.

Last night, at a meeting of the vestry of Trinity Episcopal church, a call was extended to Rev. A. W. Seabreeze, of Knoxville, Tenn., to come to Fort Wayne and assume the rectorship of Trinity Episcopal church.

Rev. Mr. Seabreeze is expected in the city one week from next Sunday and will preach on that occasion.

Next Sunday Bishop David B. Knickerbacker will be in the city and will preach at the church in the morning and evening.

The Michigan central road has sent out the following notice to connecting lines: "Under the recent act of congress prohibiting the return to the United States of Chinese, we can not handle any of these people holding through tickets over this line as we pass through Canada, and once having been taken out of this country they can not again re-enter, and we are prohibited by the Canadian government from landing any Chinese in that country under penalty. Please give the necessary instructions, that no Chinese may be ticketed over this line to points in or through Canada."

The Patrick Ryan naturalized yesterday was not the popular and efficient weighmaster. "I was naturalized in 1858," said Mr. Ryan, "and the know-nothing fanatics made me travel ninety miles to the United States circuit court to get my citizen papers. A foreigner could not get naturalized in the local courts, so bitter was the feeling.

The state board of education is in session at Indianapolis. Fort Wayne is not represented since her school representation was recently cut down. Terre Haute succeeded Fort Wayne and she has no more right than has Lafayette or Logansport. Superintendent La Follette made an informal report to the board of the action of the recent institute instructors' association, and their request for the co-operation of the state board to secure the establishment of a state convention of institute instructors, to be held one week annually. Messrs. Parsons, Jones and La Follette were appointed a committee to confer with a committee of the association in regard to the above.

Is Captain White a Free Trader?

In the issue of July 19, 1888, of the Fort Wayne Dispatch, then, as now, supporting Captain White, will be found published a speech delivered in congress by the captain, in the third paragraph of which is found the following words:

"A glance at the world of to-day will convince the thinking mind that no such thing as absolute free trade prevails in any country, and yet this is, or should be the primary condition of mankind, as well as of nations—freedom in everything, in commerce, in politics and in religion, and on this theory I believe a man ought to have the right to load his wagon or his ship with such goods as he pleases and drive or sail to uttermost parts of the earth with them and sell them as he pleases without let or hindrance from any man or nation, but no such freedom exists, never has and is not likely to."

The Kind of Deputy Marshals.

"I see," said Federal Marshal Hawkins to an Indianapolis reporter, "that some republicans facetiously suggested in your paper that the democrats would have hard work in getting a worse lot of deputy marshals than they have had. I have been looking into the case, and after an examination of the records I give up the job of trying to excell our friends in this respect."

"Will you appoint any deputies?"

"If there are petitions for them. As yet there have been no applications."

There will be a meeting of the first voters central club to-night at the Academy of Music. By order of

A Cure for Obesity and Nervousness.

The Duke of Calvino, who was captured by brigands in the neighborhood of Trapani, was released by his captors on payment of a ransom of 150,000 francs by his family, who never expected to see him again, he being very obese, advanced in age and afflicted with a nervous malady. He had passed thirty-five days with the brigands, and, strange to say, the treatment he had received, though by no means pleasant, had the effect of completely curing him. The Duke relates that in the night when he was taken he was put on horseback and made to ride till next morning, when the brigands stopped at a kind of warehouse. There he remained the first day, and wrote, at his captors dictation, a letter to his family asking them to send the above named ransom. In the evening the journey was resumed, and as the rain was falling in torrents, the Duke was clad in some tarpaulin, and a sack was placed over his head to protect him. The second night the party reached an abandoned shed, where the Duke was left, with a guard outside the door. The third night the journey was continued, and ended at the place destined beforehand for the Duke's concealment. He had to enter this retreat on hands and knees, through a narrow opening, into a cave, and then through a second hole into a subterranean grotto. Here he remained for thirty days without any light, lying on a bundle of straw, which was never changed. His food consisted of bread and cheese and water. The brigands left him alone, only returning to bring food. By the light of a lamp, which was lowered from above, they forced him to write other pressing letters to his family, and dictated what he should say.

His family, to obtain his release, used their utmost influence to prevent the military authorities from pursuing the brigands until the ransom had been safely paid and received. The band liberated their victim after having conducted him on foot for a considerable distance, to the territory of Castellamare, where a peasant's house had been indicated to him, whence he would be conducted by the inmates to Trapani, about twenty miles distant.—London Standard.

DURING the past year France has had 7,572 suicides, one-fifth of them in and around Paris. Of these 1,975 were traced to mental aberration, 1,228 to physical suffering, and only 483 to want and fear of it. Domestic trouble and alcoholism were the chief moral causes. Disappointed love resulted in 200, and jealousy in 27.—Arkansaw Traveler.

Yellow Fever.

DECATUR, Ala., Oct. 23.—One new case, Mary Kelly, a colored nurse, is reported. Mr. H. C. Jones is dying.

THE figures of the Commissioners of Emigration for last year show that of 371,719 steerage passengers landed at Castle Garden 151,023 remained in New York. In other words, over 40 per cent. of the immigration to that port stick in the metropolis instead of scattering. These people finally spread to some extent. This goes to show that a vast proportion of immigrants are induced to cross the ocean by lying promises that they will get work the moment they land, when the truth is that the market for unskilled labor—of which immigration almost entirely consists now—is overstocked. Here are the figures for last year, showing where the immigrants landed at Castle Garden were bound to:

Arizona	90	Idaho	115
Arkansas	114	Indian Territory	304
Alabama	141	Kentucky	731
British Columbia	1,012	Kansas	8,794

The figures for this year, when they are prepared, will probably show a startling change for the worse.

Estimating Weight of Cattle.

No rule will lead to anything more than an approximation to the actual weight. Every stock-raiser should have his own scales. The following is as good a rule as any for estimating the weight of animals by measure: Multiply the girth in inches, taken immediately behind the shoulder blade, by the length in inches from the square of the buttock to the point of the shoulder blade, and divide the product by 144, which gives the number of superficial feet. If the animal has a girth of 3 to 5 feet, multiply the number of superficial feet by 16, and you will have its approximate weight. If the girth is 5 to 7 feet multiply by 23, and 7 to 9 feet multiply by 31. If less than 3 feet girth, as in the cases of small calves, hogs, sheep, etc., multiply by 11. Allowance must be made for the build of the animal, conditions of fattening, etc. The above rule is for grass-fed cattle; it being estimated that in the cases of grass-fatted sheep, calves, and kine, or steers, each superficial foot, when the girth is 3 feet or under, represents a weight of 11 pounds; when 3 to 5, 16 pounds; when 5 to 7 feet, 23 pounds, and when 7 to 9 feet, 31 pounds. Thus an ox measuring eight feet girth and seven and a half feet in length should weigh about 8x7½x31 pounds. Under this rule it is customary to deduct one-twelfth of the whole for half-fatted cattle; from 15 to 20 pounds on a cow having had calves, and if not fat an equal amount.—Inter-Ocean.

GROWING BRIGHTER.

The Democratic Skies are Brightening Every Day—The Outlook in the West.

Special to THE SENTINEL:

NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 23.—The case of Jordan, one of the Pennsylvania contingent from the republican headquarters who is held under $2,500 bail to answer for the offense of false registration, will probably be about the end of the much advertised attempt of the republican manipulators to dispose of New York according to their own pleasure. The fact is, that these men know nothing about the operations of our laws, and failed to realize that they could not repeat operations that were comparatively easy when the republicans were in power and had control of the federal machinery for the supervision of national elections. Now between the local authorities and the United States officials a person guilty of false registration, one who attempted to offer or agreed to take a bribe, would be sure to meet with what is commonly called "Jersey Justice," whether his offenses were committed in New York, New Jersey, or Connecticut. The tactics of the republican headquarters are those practiced by their party in the senate, mere buncombe. It seems to be their opinion that by trading on their reputation for villiany they can overawe the electors of democratic communities. In this they are so monstrously mistaken that they are beginning to perceive it themselves and are apologizing for the presence of Leed, Voorhees, Magee, and Howard Diston and Wylee, of Pennsylvania notoriety, in this city, and even the Pinkerton men who were brought over here to make a show, are growing scarcer as figures in the play of beubees.

The democratic national committee is in receipt of information from Illinois and from other northwestern states, including Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota, which show that, instead of trying the local false impressions, about democrats in New York, Connecticut, and New Jersey, the republicans would do well to be thinking themselves of their own share in the national legislature and looking after electoral votes that were cast for their candidate in 1884. There has been no disposition among the democrats to make claims to states heretofore republican, but the evidence from all quarters is astonishing in its concurrence in the statement that the further west an observer goes, the stronger is the popular sentiment from democrats for tax reform and an economical government. Even at the republican headquarters there is great discontent with the management of Senator Quay. He has preserved the appearance of reliance and the tremendous reserve power so long that every one was astonished with the feebleness of the interview that he caused to be sent last night to every New York paper. It asserts that the republican headquarters have made three distinct canvasses of the town under three distinct false pretenses, one of them being that they were agents of a company, engaged to gather statistics for a grand real estate syndicate which would furnish residence and lodgings to all persons not owners of real estate at a reasonable rate. According to Quay's pretty story, these men were remarkably successful and brought to him a very complete canvass of the town as to the ownership and occupancy of its dwellings.

Trow's directory is the standard institution for the compilation of residence statistics. In the preparation of their annual volume, this company used 175 men long skilled in the business, during their three weeks preliminary work of collecting the names for the directory. The city directory does not contain the names of all qualified voters, on account of the shifting population of the great city and of the desire of many to escape detention in town or the missing of service in their employment, by evading jury duty or a national guard duty, etc. After the names are gathered in a large force of experts is employed for an equally long time in collecting and arranging them before anything like a list of city residents, who are lessees of premises or heads of families, can be made out.

The absurdity of Mr. Quay's three canvasses of voters is made evident by this comparison and on inquiry made today at a hundred different points show that none of his canvassers ever appeared to make a single inquiry and that the whole statement made by him is simply a falsehood, uttered as a part of the game of bluff, the legitimacy of which, as a politician's weapon, he defends. All the rest of the republican tactics during the past month are of a piece with this, and the idea of seriously controlling an election of the president of the United States by such trashy buncombe is utterly absurd to every reflecting mind.

A novel and somewhat surprising turn was given to the betting here last night by the wager of $100 to $90, at the Hoffman house, that Cleveland will carry Illinois. The bet was made by Mr. H. M. Brinklebaun, of Chicago, with a Chicago wheat broker, who took the bet after some delay. The backer of the democratic side offered to repeat the wager, but found no one to take it, although he waited at the hotel for some time for the return of the people who went over to the republican state headquarters, at the Fifth-avenue hotel, as they said, for the purpose of getting money. The Chicago democrat finally called on their crowd to witness the occurrence, as proof that the republicans had no confidence in holding the state of Illinois for their candidates. This is one of many cases that show the way the political winds are blowing from the westward.

A meeting of the conference committee of the business men's democratic organizations was held at the Stevens house yesterday afternoon, at which representatives from the stock, produce, maritime, consolidated, coffee, cotton and metal exchanges, lawyers, jewelers, boatsmen, harbor men, hide and leather men, custom house brokers and others were present. It was unanimously resolved to send an invitation to Governor Hill to address the business men of New York at Steinway hall, upon such evening as may suit his convenience, during the last week of the campaign in behalf of the election of Cleveland, Thurman and Hill.

Chairman Brice, of the national campaign comittee, was present at the conference by invitation, and for the information of the meeting he stated that from the reports he had received of the canvass made, that he had every confidence of the democratic electoral ticket carrying New York, New Jersey and Connecticut. There was a great deal of enthusiasm by the members present relative to the parade on Saturday afternoon next, at which President Cleveland will review the procession on Fifth avenue, opposite the World's monument. There will probably be no less than 50,000 men in the parade. J. T.

CRUEL MURDER.

A Desperado Kills His Wife and Shoots Two Other Persons.

WINCHESTER, Ind., Oct. 23.—Victor Hill drove to the residence of his father-in-law, two and one-half miles from town, asked to see his wife and baby and being refused, drew a pistol and shot Zimey Moffett in the back as the latter was leaving the room, inflicting only a slight wound. He then shot Mrs. Warren Harper, his sister-in-law, but her corset glanced the ball and it inflicted only a slight bruise. He then shot his wife through the heart, killing her instantly. After this he fled to the woods, followed feebly by old man Moffett with a loaded musket. Mrs. Warren Harper took the musket from her father, pursued Hill, and fired at him with unknown effect. Hundreds of armed men are pursuing him.

A TRAGIC SCENE.

Is Enacted in Church—A Man Kills His Wife.

FULTON, Mo., Oct. 23.—Last night, Jackson Emerson entered the Pilgrim's Rest church, and without a word of warning, drew a revolver and fired at his wife. Missing her, a second shot was fired It entered the back of her head and the woman fell dead. The congregation stampeded and the preacher jumped out of the second story window. Emerson is in jail and there are strong threats of lynching him. The parties are colored.

Arrested For Embezzlement.

EAST SAGINAW, Oct. 23.—Albert A. Shaver, ex-county treasurer of Clare, is under arrest on the charge of appropriating between $1,000 and $1,800 of the county funds during his term of office in 1884. On the night of May 14, 1884, Shaver was found bound and gagged in his office, and he declared he had been robbed.

The Italy Disaster.

ROME, Oct. 23.—The official report of the railway disaster near Potenaca, limits the number of persons killed to nineteen, and the number of injured to fifty-five.

John M. Bayor and Fred Helling have been admitted to citizenship.

GROSS NEGLIGENCE!

The Trainmen Held Responsible and Arrested for the Recent Railroad Horrors in Pennsylvania.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 23. The coroner's jury in the case of the recent railroad disaster at Washington, Pa., rendered a verdict last night placing the responsibility for the accident on Conductor Heck, of the shifting engine, and charging him with involuntary manslaughter in causing the deaths of Engineer Noonan and Fireman McAuliffe, the testimony showing he had ordered the switch open and then failed to see that it had been closed. Edward Boon, the new switchman who opened the switch, was condemned for gross negligence. The coroner has issued a warrant for the arrest of Heck.

MAUCH CHUNK, Pa., Oct. 23.—The district attorney shortly before midnight last night issued warrants for the arrest of Henry Cook and Thomas Major, engineers, John Mulhearn and Joseph Kohl, lookouts, James Hannigan, flagman, and Charles Terry and Joseph Keithline, conductors, charging them with gross negligence and wilful misconduct and for failing to observe the precaution and rules which it was their duty to obey and observe while they were employed in the conveyance of passengers for the Lehigh Valley railroad company, causing a great accident at Mud Run, which resulted in killing and injuring many persons.

M'KEE RANKIN.

His "Runaway Wife" and the Final Denouement.

Mr. McKee Rankin, one of the best actors on the stage, comes to the Temple to-night in his new play, "The Runaway Wife." It is a piece full of lights and shadows, of quiet humor and touching pathos, and it points a moral that will always bear repetition in productions of this character. Mr. Rankin as Arthur Eastman portrays an American artist who marries a woman above himself in wealth and social position. Reverses come—financial ruin, and poverty and loss of eyesight. With his wife and child he seeks refuge with his brother. The latter's wife, as represented in Hester Eastman by Miss Florence Knight, is a typical termagant, whose heart is calloused to the sufferings and hardships of her husband's relatives, and who finally drives them out into the world. The wife, Lady Alice, through the machinations of Lord Charnleigh, a gallant, is induced to go to England as a companion to friends, and he afterwards succeeds in marrying her by representing that both her husband and son are dead. The youth grows to manhood, becomes a famous artist, and by a strange conspiracy of circumstances comes in contact with his mother. The details leading to a happy denouement are made up in five acts laid in America and England.

PERISHED IN THE FLAMES.

A Child of Mr. and Mrs. Mast Loses Its Life in Their Burning Home.

MICHIGAN CITY, Oct. 23.—This morning the residence of Frederick Mast, east of the city, was burned to the ground and his young son perished in the flames. The child and its infant brother were in the house alone at the time. The mother, who was at work in the field, observed the house in flames. She hastened to rescue her children. The younger one was saved, but the elder was suffocated by the smoke and burned to a crisp. The mother was also badly burned.

Expelled for Upholding Harrison.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 23.—At a meeting last night of the Central Labor union of Indiana, resolutions were passed denouncing and expelling from the union Armstrong assembly, which recently met here and without a quorum passed resolutions excusing Harrison's labor record and reflecting upon assembly 106, which had previously taken official action regarding that record for the information of labor unions throughout the country.

GEN. SHERIDAN is reported as saying about a year ago: "If I only had the simple faith of my wife, but I have not. To me the future seems oblivion. If we have a future beyond the grave then we must have had an existence before this life. These are mysteries which I have often thought over, but I cannot fathom them. How much comfort the great mass of mankind get out of that little and yet potential instinct summed up in the word faith. I was born into the Catholic Church and cannot get out of it. But I have my own views. We must do our duty in life. We are here and must make the best of it."

THE CHINESE.

A Party of Them Coming From Alaska Have Trouble in Landing on the Pacific Coast.

TACOMA, Wash. Ty., Oct. 23.—Over twenty Chinamen came down from Alaska on the steamer Ancon on her last trip. The Ancon, coming down, went straight to Port Townsend, not touching at Victoria as usual, to avoid any trouble in regard to their landing here. Collector of Customs Brooks, however, refused to allow them to land because they had passed through British waters in reaching here. A writ of habeas corpus was sued out here, and while it was pending the steamer Mexico arrived here from San Francisco with six Chinamen, the steamer having stopped en route at Victoria, B. C.

The tow was stopped and a lawyer from Townsend hastened to join in the habeas corpus proceedings. Judge Allyn decides that under the law, which decrees passengers on American ships to be under the jurisdiction of the United States, these Chinamen, bound from one American port to another American port, not having left the ship at any time, had not been out of the United States, even though the ship had touched a foreign port. The Chinamen were allowed to land.

LINSEED OIL TRUST.

How a Fort Wayne Firm Realizes a Handsome Profit Out of the "Private Affair."

The New York Times says:

During the year 1887 the price of linseed oil was raised about 37 per cent., or from 38 to 52 cents a gallon, by the practical suppression of competition through the formation of a linseed oil trust in the west. The price since the close of 1887 has been even higher than 52 cents. The duty is 25 cents a gallon or about 55 per cent. the value of foreign oil. This is the barrier behind which the combination raises the price for consumers in the home market.

Taking up this text the Indianapolis Sentinel remarks:

There is a wealthy firm in Fort Wayne—S. Bash & Co.—which has a practical monopoly of the grain and produce of that city. This firm also runs an oil mill, which has been idle for some time, the trust paying the proprietors more for keeping the mill closed than they could make by running it. Meantime, the member of the firm who manages the mill is in Europe with his family. The trust, of course, by killing competition among the buyers of flaxseed, enables the members of the trust to mutually control its prices. It dictates the price which it will pay farmers for the raw material, and also the price at which it will sell its products to consumers. It is emphatically a "soft thing" for its members, and the Sentinel is not surprised to learn that S. Bash & Co. are loading down every farmer who visits their warehouse with high tariff decuments and working like Trojans to get votes for free whisky and monopoly taxes from those who deal with them.

If the Mills bill becomes a law the linseed oil trust will be "busted." The senate bill, however, "protects" the trust fully, by leaving the 55 per cent. duty, which has made the trust possible, untouched. This is pretty rough on all who use paints, which includes nearly everybody, but it is very nice for S. Bash & Co., who agree with James G. Blaine, that trusts are private affairs, with which the public has no right to interfere.

The member of the firm referred to by the Indianapolis Sentinel is Mr. Joseph Hughes, who is now in Europe with his family. It is said he receives $5,000 a year for closing his mill. All the workmen whom he employed, save two watchmen, are turned out to seek new employment or starve. Ask these men if trusts and high protective tariff taxes are a national blessing and then step down and see the closed mill at No. 20 West Columbia street. Down with monopolies.

SKIPPED WITH $500,000!

Thomas Axworthy, the City Treasurer of Cleveland, a Defaulter to That Amount.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 23.—Nearly every man, woman or child in Cleveland has heard of City Treasurer Thomas Axworthy, and thousands are personally acquainted with him. He is perhaps the most popular democratic politician in Northern Ohio. So highly is he regarded that he could have been nominated for congress this year if he had but said the word.

In business circles he has out a very big figure and the statement was often made that whatever he touches turns to gold. He has real estate, ships that sail the lakes, coal mines and iron ranges and many other valuable investments. When at home he is a prominent figure on the street and at every turn is greeted by old and young, rich and poor, republicans and democrats.

He has not been seen recently and the officials at the city hall have not grasped his hand for many a long day, therefore his absence has caused some confusion and much inquiry. On Saturday the mayor's clerk, Briggs, submitted to the city board of revision a partial report of his investigation into the business methods of the municipal officials.

A telegram of inquiry was sent to the Windsor hotel, at New York, and the answer returned that Axworthy had arrived there September 29, in the morning, and departed in the evening for Montreal, Canada. There all trace of him was lost. Meanwhile his bondsmen began an investigation. They are United States Senator H. B. Payne and J. H. Wade, jr., pledged for $50,000. They, together with the leading city officials and attorneys, were in consultation all last night and adjourned early this morning.

Each refuses to say a word, but all the details of Mr. Axworthy's absence, no doubt, will be known to-day.

The finance committee of the common council, after a hasty examination of the books, state they believe the loss to the city by reason of Axworthy's disappearance is $500,000.

Senator Payne and J. H. Wade, jr., bondsmen on the city treasurer, at 2 o'clock this morning, filed petitions and affidavits in the common pleas court, praying for an attachment against Mr. Axworthy's assets, real estate and other property.

The schooner Republic, and three-quarters interest in the schooner, Page, were attached, and his money and stocks in local banks were garnisheed. The sheriff is now attaching the real property of the missing treasurer, including a farm on Loraine street, outside of the city limits, and his summer residence on Lake avenue.

The National Bank of Commerce also entered suit for $25,000 to recover on a promissory note they had discounted. It is said Axworthy has $200,000 with him.

FRUIT HOUSE.

No Universal Remedy

has yet been discovered; but, as at least four-fifths of human diseases have their source in Impure Blood, a medicine which restores that fluid from a depraved to a healthy condition comes as near being a universal cure as any that can be produced. Ayer's Sarsaparilla affects the blood in each stage of its formation, and is, therefore, adapted to a greater variety of complaints than any other known medicine.

Boils and Carbuncles,

which defy ordinary treatment, yield to Ayer's Sarsaparilla after a comparatively brief trial.

Mr. C. K. Murray, of Charlottesville, Va., writes that for years he was afflicted with boils which caused him much suffering. These were succeeded by carbuncles, of which he had several at one time. He then began the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and after taking three bottles, the carbuncles disappeared, and for six years he has not had even a pimple.

That insidious disease, Scrofula, is the fruitful cause of innumerable complaints, Consumption being only one of many equally fatal. Eruptions, ulcers, sore eyes, glandular swellings, weak and wasted muscles, a capricious appetite, and the like, are pretty sure indications of a scrofulous taint in the system. Many otherwise beautiful faces are disfigured by pimples, eruptions, and unsightly blotches, which arise from impure blood, showing the need of Ayer's Sarsaparilla to remedy the evil.

All sufferers from blood disorders should give Ayer's Sarsaparilla a fair trial,—avoiding all powders, ointments, and washes, and especially cheap and worthless compounds, which not only fail to effect a cure, but more frequently aggravate and confirm the diseases they are fraudulently advertised to remedy.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

For Surveyor—Henry Fischer.
For County Commissioners—First district, Jasper W Jones, of Jackson township; Second district, Henry Bullerman, St. Joe township; Third district, John H. Brennan, City.

THE republicans are going into the forgery business, but their little plans were cut exceedingly short in New York.

THE Gazette reproduces a paragraph reflecting on Catholic priests, and attributes it to Judge Thurman. The paragraph is as false as the writer.

JUDGE GRESHAM to the Gazette:—"Am glad to see you making such a heroic fight for county commissioner. General Harrison and the tariff are side issues. Success to you."

THANKSGIVING day approaches and a grateful nation will read Mr. Cleveland's proclamation with the joyous certainty of four years more of honest government and business prosperity.

THE Gazette has abandoned all hope of Candidate Harrison and Colonel Hovey, and is frantically grasping for a county commissionership. But then the Gazette would rather elect a county commissioner than General Harrison.

JUDGE THURMAN is at home again and it will please the tender sensibilities of the News to know that the old Roman's health is 50 per cent. better than when he started. Mr. Blaine, however, is in exceedingly bad health and needs rest.

HON. LEON BAILEY, Indiana senator from the Indianapolis district, will speak in this city on Friday evening. Mr. Bailey will have something to say of General Harrison's record on the labor question. He knows him personally and too well for the chilly statesman's comfort.

WHILE in Fort Wayne the other day Governor Gray made the statement, in private conversation, that the democrats have no hope of carrying Indiana.—Gazette.

Only a week ago, at Indianapolis, Governor Gray personally contradicted a similar falsehood.

MAJOR CALKINS is not so anxious for a joint discussion as he was. It was arranged by the democrats to have Mr. G. W. Bell, of Iowa, meet the major at Sellersburg, Ind., but Mr. Calkins cancelled the date and refused to speak. You can't convince republicans down there that Major Calkins is anxious for a joint talk.

THE weather forecasts published in THE SENTINEL daily have come to be a household necessity, and are indeed trustworthy. It is of the greatest importance to every person to know twelve and twenty-four hours in advance the sort of weather to arrange for. The government weather predictions are but a feature of THE SENTINEL's splendid telegraph service.

THE Gazette is quoting Hon. Charles McCulloch in its advocacy of local reforms that were happily accomplished by the democrats two years. This, of course, is a compliment to Mr. McCulloch and THE SENTINEL wants to direct the attention of the voters of Allen county to the fact that Mr. McCulloch and his honored father, ex-Secretary Hugh McCulloch, are now asking the people of the nation to support President Cleveland and put a stop to the nefarious tariff tax robberies.

ROLL up your sleeves democrats, and go to work for Cleveland and good government. Treat everybody kindly and honestly. A man who can't talk about the different candidates without becoming abusive and angry, should never attempt to talk politics or engage in a political controversy. Be a man at all times and treat every person as you would like to have them treat you. Never throw mud. It may please some to stand by and see you soil and blacken your hands, but they will soon laugh at your foolishness and be the first ones to criticise your actions.

OLD SOLDIERS! ATTENTION!

Read What Cleveland's Administration Has Done for You.

In view of the rabid attacks by republican stump speakers and those who desire to make the soldiers of the late war believe that President Cleveland's administration has been hostile to them, it is well to consider some of the decisions that have been made in the office of the second comptroller of the United States treasury department at Washington, in which office final settlement of all back-pay and bounty claims is made.

Under these decisions thousands of claims have been rendered in favor of the soldier, and tens of thousands of dollars have gone into their pockets which otherwise would never have reached them. During the war a great many soldiers took what was called a "French leave," never intending to desert. Their parents and family were sick, or they had business to look after, and knowing that they could not get a furlough, went to their homes, and while absent, were marked as deserters, although they afterward returned to their companies and regiments. Hence, in such cases, great injustice had been done to the soldiers in many instances where they were claiming back-pay and bounty.

In May, 1885, President Cleveland appointed Judge I. H. Maynard, of New York, a democrat, second comptroller. Judge Maynard held this office until April, 1887, at which time he was appointed assistant secretary of the United States treasury.

In April, 1887, President Cleveland appointed Sigourney Butler, of Massachusetts, a democrat, second comptroller to succeed Judge Maynard.

The following decisions were made by Comptrollers Maynard and Butler and, as will be seen by reading them, are more favorable to the soldiers and veterans of the late war and Mexican war than all the decisions on these subjects ever made by the second comptrollers from Lincoln to President Arthur:

SOLDIERS CHARGED WITH DESERTION.

Volunteers charged with desertion, who voluntarily returned to the service within a reasonable time and while the war was still flagrant, are considered as merely absentees without leave, and not as deserters. The voluntary return under such circumstances rebuts the presumption raised by the charge on the rolls. The same principle is applied when both the desertion and the return were after the cessation of hostilities.

Deserters who return under the president's proclamation and afterwards served, do not forfeit the right to bounty if their service, after deducting the time of their absence, is sufficient.

SOLDIERS CAPTURED BY THE ENEMY.

A soldier captured by the enemy while absent without leave is considered as on duty, and becomes entitled to pay that he would have forfeited for absence without leave.

SOLDIERS DISCHARGED ON ACCOUNT OF ABSENCE.

If a soldier is borne on the rolls as discharged on account of "absence from his command," evidence is admissable to show the cause of the absence, and, if it be shown that the cause was a wound, he is deemed to have been discharged for wounds, and is entitled to bounty accordingly.

ARREST BY CIVIL AUTHORITIES.

A soldier in arrest by the civil authorities is not treated as absent without proper authority, unless he is convicted. If he is released by the civil authorities without trial, guilt cannot be presumed.

WHEN TIME PASSED IN ARREST COUNTS FOR BOUNTY.

Where a soldier was held in arrest by the military authorities, and afterwards restored to duty without trial, and no record exists showing the cause of the arrest—the presumption of innocence remains, and the time passed in arrest counts for bounty.

DEATH FROM EXCESSES IN SERVICE IS NOT A BAR.

Soldiers who are killed, or die from injuries received, in attempts to desert, or in mutiny, are not considered as dying "in service" within the meaning of the bounty laws; they are in a status of disgrace. But death resulting from excesses is considered death in service, because the soldier has not intentionally separated himself from the service, as in the former class of cases.

DISCHARGE FOR INEFFICIENCY DOES NOT FORFEIT TRAVEL PAY.

An officer dropped from the rolls on account of inefficiency, or for other reasons, provided it be not "by way of punishment for an offense" is entitled to travel allowance to place of entering the service. So in cases of resignation, unless the resignation is voluntary and for the personal convenience of the officer.

DISCHARGE FOR HUMANITY'S SAKE.

A soldier who is discharged upon the request of friends, to enable him to care for a sick parent, is held to be discharged for purposes of humanity, and not as a personal favor, and, accordingly, is not deprived by such discharge of "additional" bounty under the act of July 28, 1866, if otherwise entitled.

DISCHARGE FOR PROMOTION IS NOT BY WAY OF FAVOR.

Promotions are presumed to be made for the good of the service, and not by way of favor; consequently soldiers who were discharged for promotion are entitled, if their enlisted service is sufficient, to bounty under the act of July 28, 1866.

DISABILITY PRIOR TO ENLISTMENT DOES NOT PRECLUDE FROM BOUNTY.

The rule established by Secretary Stanton that a soldier discharged for a disability existing prior to enlistment, notwithstanding his service has exceeded two years, is debarred from bounty under the act of July 28, 1866, is reversed, because it has not authority of law and works an essential injustice.

SERVICE UNDER SEVERAL ENLISTMENTS COUNTED.

General orders 191, of 1863, prescribing nine months previous service as the condition of the right to veteran muster, is now so construed that the condition is deemed fulfilled by nine months' service in the army as an enlisted man, or as an officer, at any time, whether before or after the beginning of the war of the rebellion, and whether the service was continuous or was under several enlistments.

SOLDIERS MUSTERED-OUT IN THE FIELD.

Soldiers who were mustered out in the field are entitled to pay and allowances after such muster-out, as long as they were held together under discipline, and in the absence of direct evidence it will be presumed that they were so held together, until date of payment, if the muster-out was in the enemy's country and the payment was made to them all at the same time.

CONSIDERATION FOR WOUNDED SOLDIERS DISCHARGED FROM HOSPITALS.

Soldiers in hospitals at the time of the muster-out of their companies are considered, generally, to have ceased to be soldiers at the date of such muster-out. But if a soldier suffering from a wound is discharged from the hospital after the muster out of the company, he is entitled to the benefit of the act of March 3, 1865, and to the bounty under it, as for one discharged for a wound, if this is more advantageous to him than to be treated as mustered out for the same cause for which the company was mustered out.

DISCHARGE FOR WOUNDS RECEIVED IN LINE OF DUTY.

The act of March 3, 1865, provided that any soldier discharged by reason of wounds received in the line of duty should be entitled "to receive the same bounty as if he had served out his full term." The word "wound" as used in this statute had been construed to include injuries of various kinds such as those resulting from a stroke of lightning, or the loss of the use of a member from freezing, although there was no apparent abrasion or laceration of tissues.

DISCHARGE FOR SUN STROKE—DOUBTFUL CASES IN FAVOR OF THE SOLDIER.

In the case of a soldier discharged by reason of sun stroke, it was held that such disability resulted from a wound, within the meaning of the act, on the ground that no distinction should be made between the result of the immediate action of the rays of the sun and the effect of exposure to artificial heat, in which case resulting congestion or inflammation would be claimed as a wound; and on the further ground that congress had made an apparently arbitrary distinction between discharge for disease and discharge for wounds, "doubtful or border cases should be resolved in favor of the soldier."

EXTRA PAY FOR SERVICES IN MEXICAN WAR.

The right to the three months extra pay proper, provided by the acts of July 19, 1848, and February 19, 1879, for service in the Mexican war, is extended to all enlisted men and officers who were honorably discharged after serving in that war—notwithstanding the discharge was before the close of the war, and not for a disability incurred in the service.

EXTRA PAY FOR SOLDIERS EN ROUTE TO MEXICO.

Soldiers who were on the high seas en route for Mexico, at the date of the close of the Mexican war, May 30, 1848, are deemed to have been engaged "in prosecuting the war with Mexico," within the meaning of the act of July 19, 1848, so as to be entitled to three months extra pay proper provided for by that act, notwithstanding the fact that they did not reach Mexican waters until after the ratification of the treaty of peace.

IN FAVOR OF COLORED RECRUITS.

Sums not exceeding $10 paid to colored recruits in Virginia and the department of the south by Generals Butler and Gilmore, under orders of the war department of November 29 and December 22, 1863, are not bounties within the meaning of the bounty laws and should not be charged against bounties now due such recruits; they are in the nature of gratuities.

CARE FOR THE WIDOWS AND FATHERLESS.

The heirs of soldiers who died after receiving an honorable discharge, but prior to the passage of the act of April, 1872, are entitled to the bounty provided by that act to the same extent that the soldier would be, if living.

JUSTICE AND NOT CAST IRON RULES MUST GUIDE.

Proceedings before the accounting officers are of such a nature that cast iron rules of pleading are not admissible. An application filed with the auditor may, therefore, be treated either as an original application, or as an application for a re-opening of an old settlement, according as justice and the interests of the claimant may require.

AN astonishing disclosure has come across the ocean. For months prior to the death of the Kaiser William and his son the cable was loaded with impressive rumors about the consolidation of Russian troops on the European frontier. There were new railroads reported built by which supplies could be easily forwarded to the camps. There were additional canals to bring the grain centers nearer the railways. There were barracks along the Austrian border with huge bakeries, and there were cannon enough being hauled from arsenals and foundries to fortify an empire. The names of brigades and regiments were mentioned as being under orders; summaries of bulletins between headquarters and contingents in transit were telegraphed; and the total of Russian soldiery flying along toward the southwestern territory was put at nearly a million of men. After all this had been circumstantially detailed a correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette who has been over the ground pronounces the whole story a fiction. He declares that 4,000 men were dispatched from Moscow to Warsaw, and that this trifling transfer was seized by Bismarck as the occasion for one of the most colossal falsehoods, deliberately conceived, scientifically planned, and ruthlessly executed, which diplomacy has ever recorded. The Chancellor wanted a huge military purse and an increase of 700,000 in the army of Germany for purposes not well defined by either himself or his critic; but he wanted both. That, at least, is certain. To get them he invented the fable of the moving of Russian troops in gigantic masses upon the Austrian frontier. According to exposer of the canard the wily statesman waited until the alarm caused by the border stories, judiciously repeated and solemnly confirmed, had cast all the European governments into panic. Germany was aroused from her torpor with the assurance that she was in danger on one side from Russia and on the other from France, with England as a probable ally. When the panic was at its height Bismarck went with melodramatic seriousness before the Reichstag. The Opposition party, led by Herr Windthorst, had been wheedled into submission by the Pope, at whose previous bidding they had antagonized the Iron Chancellor. The Socialists were coaxed into conciliation for the hour. He got his bill through. If this disclosure be correct, Bismarck surpasses Munchausen in invention.

E. S. STOKES has started a new down-town cafe in New York which is simply gorgeous. It has a floor of Italian mosaic, which alone cost $12,000. The octagonal bar is of Mexican onyx and white mahogany, and cost as much more. The supporting pillars are also of white mahogany and onyx, and there are enough of them to make a man wish he were rich. Silver beer-mugs and a collection of silver dishes are incidental to the general magnificence.

M. EIFFEL, the engineer and constructor of the hideous tower which, if public taste does not sooner secure its condemnation, is destined for years to disfigure a whole quarter of Paris, entertained the Parisian journalists at breakfast, says a Paris dispatch to the London Times. Its guests met on the first story of the edifice at a height of sixty meters. Doubtless they kept cool and collected, or otherwise the descent by a narrow winding staircase might have become a real danger. The object of the breakfast naturally was to direct the attention of the press to the beauty of the conception, which consists in placing a tower 300 meters high in a hollow, and in dwarfing by its exaggerated dimensions the normal proportions of the other exhibition buildings. M. Eiffel is an engineer of distinction who has executed works well worthy of praise. It was he who constructed the rotatory dome of the Nice observatory. The system is said to be one which will be introduced ultimately in all similar institutions, and the invention will of itself suffice to prevent the name of its author from being forgotten. M. Eiffel is the author of other useful inventions, but nothing he has done has brought him such reputation as the hideous iron maypole which he is about to erect to outrage the good taste of the Parisians. Nothing favorable can be said of its beauty, its purpose, or its use to any one but M. Eiffel and to the others interested in this undertaking which the republic has had the bad taste to subsidize. It has spread the name of its constructor to the ends of the earth. It will continue to exasperate men of taste and sense and to be an eyesore to all who live in or visit Paris when Gen. Boulanger and even Sarah Bernhardt have long been forgotten.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is a purely vegetable preparation, being free from injurious ingredients. It is peculiar in its curative power.

The experience of years furnishes the most convincing evidence that thousands of lives are annually saved by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It speedily cures all affections of the throat, bronchial tubes and lungs.

THERE is a curious coincidence about the duel fought between Gen. Boulanger and M. Floquet. It appears to have followed almost the precise course of the duel between Paul Astier and the Prince d' Athis, in Daudet's new novel. In both cases an expert swordsman sets out to kill an inexpert opponent, and in both cases the expert swordsman is put hors du combat, with a wound in the throat. In the novel, the wounded Paul recovers.

But—oughtn't a man to be blamed if, having Rheumatism or Neuralgia, he won't use Ath-lo-pho-ros, when it has cured thousands who have suffered in the same way? It has cured hundreds after physicians have pronounced them incurable.

My Poor Back!

That "poor back" is held responsible for more than its share of the sufferings of mankind. If your dog bites a man who kicks it, do you blame the dog? On the same principle the kidneys utter their protest against nervousness, impure blood, and resulting constipation. These force them to do extraordinary work in ridding the system of the poisons which are the result of effete matter retained in the blood. Then the sufferer says the back aches; the kidneys are diseased. "Not yet;" but they will be unless the nerves are strengthened, the blood purified, and the constipation removed. These are the causes of kidney troubles, and Paine's Celery Compound removes them quickly. With its tonic, purifying, and laxative effect, it also strengthens the weak kidneys, making it almost infallible in curing all diseases of the nerves and kidneys. If your hopes of cure have not been realized, try Paine's Celery Compound; it gives perfect health to all who complain of "their poor backs." Price $1.00.

Ringing Noises

In the ears, sometimes a roaring buzzing sound are caused by catarrh, that exceedingly remarkable and very common disease. Loss of smell or hearing also result from catarrh. Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, is a peculiarly successful remedy for this disease, which it cures by purifying the blood. If you suffer from catarrh, try Hood's Sarsaparilla, the peculiar medicine.

The breath of a chronic catarrh patient is often so offensive that he becomes an object of disgust. After a time ulceration sets in, the spongy bones are attacked and frequently entirely destroyed. A constant source of discomfort is the dripping of the purulent secretions into the throat, sometimes producing inveterate bronchitis, which in its turn has been the exciting cause of pulmonary disease. The brilliant results which have attended its use for years past properly designate Ely's Cream Balm as by far the best and only cure.

"Come Into the Ark."

The large audience that greeted Evangelist Updike last evening, at the Christian church, were thrilled with the burning words of warning and persuasion, as he preached from the language of God to Noah: "Come thou and thy house into the ark." He made a very sensible hit against the modern sin of men and women, claiming the right to choose their own way of coming to Christ or of getting into the church, by showing that there was only one door of entrance into the ark. Noah might have complained that he did not want to go in at the same place that the animals did. The rich man or woman must come into Christ the same way as the ragged boot-black. "There is no caste in the kingdom of Christ based upon worldly goods or pomp," says Mr. Updike, "but whosoever will, may come." At this point he always becomes extremely eloquent; as he feels that when he was a poor orphan it was this love of God that gave him a home in the church Don't fail to hear him to-night.

It is useless to attempt the cure of any disorder if the blood is allowed to remain impure. Neuralgia and rheumatism are traceable to a disordered condition of the blood, and in numberless cases have been cured by taking a few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

ECHOES OF THE RAIL.

Gossipy Items and the Day's News Budget Caught on the Wing During a Hasty Morning Stroll.

The Wabash road paid off its employes to-day at this point.

This is proving a fatal month for the railroads of the country.

The order to do night work at the Pittsburg car shops has been countermanded.

The Jenney electric light company sent an incandescent light plant to Dakota yesterday.

John Brown, of the Pittsburg storekeepers' offices, is an enthusiastic protective tariff advocate.

Fred Vodde, moulder at the Bass works, has gone to New Haven to attend the wedding of a relative.

Henry Heine, of the Pittsburg boiler shops, was called to Chicago this morning by the sickness of a relative.

The ladies of the Brotherhood of Locomotive engineers will give an oyster supper this evening at their hall.

Milo Brooks, baggagemaster at the Wabash depot, still holds onto the forlorn hope of Harrison's election.

Sam Robinson is filling the position at the Olds wheel works office made vacant by the resignation of Will Craig.

J. C. Matsch, foreman of the Bass foundry cleaning rooms, is a practical joker, and has something new every day.

Hugh Bennigan, moulder at the Bass works, still adheres to his determination to vote for Belva Lockwood for president.

Mr. John Slater, of the Pittsburg blacksmith shops, was one of the vice-presidents at the republican meeting last night.

Arthur Dougall, clerk at the Bass works, wears a huge grand army badge, such as was worn by the veterans at the recent Ohio encampment.

R. H. Harrison, foreman at the Pittsburg car shops, has a new style of bank book and played the bluff game on many of his friends last evening.

Ernest Rebling, jr., machinist in the Wabash shops, is suffering from an injured foot, which he had mashed a few days ago by a heavy piece of iron falling upon it.

Otto Mervin, of the Bass blacksmith shops, had his foot badly mashed this morning by an accident while at work and was compelled to lay off in consequence of it.

Ed. Challenger, clerk at the Pittsburg boiler shops, had the door to his office painted this morning and every one entering carried away with them a gentle reminder of the fact.

The boys in the Olds wheel works are congratulating Mr. J. J. Wiesner, the pleasant shipping clerk, over the arrival of a handsome girl baby at his home. He wears his honors gracefully.

J. S. Stevens, of Peru, chief train dispatcher of the Wabash, was in the city yesterday looking for cars. He reports that there has not been such a scarcity of cars for five years. The freight business of the railroads must be good.

Calvin S. Brice, the president of the Lake Erie and Western railroad, who is chairman of the democratic national campaign committee, says that every man in the employ of his company shall be permitted to vote according to the dictates of his conscience.

Arrangements have been made for a meeting of coke producers this week at Pittsburg, when prices will be advanced to $1.25 per ton, to take effect on November 1st. A slight increase in wages of the coke workers will probably follow the advance in the price of coke.

Mr. George B. Roberts, president of the Pennsylvania system of railroads, accompanied by the board of directors of those roads, will reach here from Grand Rapids, Mich., this evening, on their annual tour of inspection. REV. A. W. SEABREEZE

Is Called to the Rectorship of Trinity Episcopal Church.

Last night, at a meeting of the vestry of Trinity Episcopal church, a call was extended to Rev. A. W. Seabreeze, of Knoxville, Tenn., to come to Fort Wayne and assume the rectorship of Trinity Episcopal church.

Rev. Mr. Seabreeze is expected in the city one week from next Sunday and will preach on that occasion.

Next Sunday Bishop David B. Knickerbacker will be in the city and will preach at the church in the morning and evening.

The Michigan central road has sent out the following notice to connecting lines: "Under the recent act of congress prohibiting the return to the United States of Chinese, we can not handle any of these people holding through tickets over this line as we pass through Canada, and once having been taken out of this country they can not again re-enter, and we are prohibited by the Canadian government from landing any Chinese in that country under penalty. Please give the necessary instructions, that no Chinese may be ticketed over this line to points in or through Canada."

The Patrick Ryan naturalized yesterday was not the popular and efficient weighmaster. "I was naturalized in 1858," said Mr. Ryan, "and the know-nothing fanatics made me travel ninety miles to the United States circuit court to get my citizen papers. A foreigner could not get naturalized in the local courts, so bitter was the feeling.

The state board of education is in session at Indianapolis. Fort Wayne is not represented since her school representation was recently cut down. Terre Haute succeeded Fort Wayne and she has no more right than has Lafayette or Logansport. Superintendent La Follette made an informal report to the board of the action of the recent institute instructors' association, and their request for the co-operation of the state board to secure the establishment of a state convention of institute instructors, to be held one week annually. Messrs. Parsons, Jones and La Follette were appointed a committee to confer with a committee of the association in regard to the above.

Is Captain White a Free Trader?

In the issue of July 19, 1888, of the Fort Wayne Dispatch, then, as now, supporting Captain White, will be found published a speech delivered in congress by the captain, in the third paragraph of which is found the following words:

"A glance at the world of to-day will convince the thinking mind that no such thing as absolute free trade prevails in any country, and yet this is, or should be the primary condition of mankind, as well as of nations—freedom in everything, in commerce, in politics and in religion, and on this theory I believe a man ought to have the right to load his wagon or his ship with such goods as he pleases and drive or sail to uttermost parts of the earth with them and sell them as he pleases without let or hindrance from any man or nation, but no such freedom exists, never has and is not likely to."

The Kind of Deputy Marshals.

"I see," said Federal Marshal Hawkins to an Indianapolis reporter, "that some republicans facetiously suggested in your paper that the democrats would have hard work in getting a worse lot of deputy marshals than they have had. I have been looking into the case, and after an examination of the records I give up the job of trying to excell our friends in this respect."

"Will you appoint any deputies?"

"If there are petitions for them. As yet there have been no applications."

There will be a meeting of the first voters central club to-night at the Academy of Music. By order of

A Cure for Obesity and Nervousness.

The Duke of Calvino, who was captured by brigands in the neighborhood of Trapani, was released by his captors on payment of a ransom of 150,000 francs by his family, who never expected to see him again, he being very obese, advanced in age and afflicted with a nervous malady. He had passed thirty-five days with the brigands, and, strange to say, the treatment he had received, though by no means pleasant, had the effect of completely curing him. The Duke relates that in the night when he was taken he was put on horseback and made to ride till next morning, when the brigands stopped at a kind of warehouse. There he remained the first day, and wrote, at his captors dictation, a letter to his family asking them to send the above named ransom. In the evening the journey was resumed, and as the rain was falling in torrents, the Duke was clad in some tarpaulin, and a sack was placed over his head to protect him. The second night the party reached an abandoned shed, where the Duke was left, with a guard outside the door. The third night the journey was continued, and ended at the place destined beforehand for the Duke's concealment. He had to enter this retreat on hands and knees, through a narrow opening, into a cave, and then through a second hole into a subterranean grotto. Here he remained for thirty days without any light, lying on a bundle of straw, which was never changed. His food consisted of bread and cheese and water. The brigands left him alone, only returning to bring food. By the light of a lamp, which was lowered from above, they forced him to write other pressing letters to his family, and dictated what he should say.

His family, to obtain his release, used their utmost influence to prevent the military authorities from pursuing the brigands until the ransom had been safely paid and received. The band liberated their victim after having conducted him on foot for a considerable distance, to the territory of Castellamare, where a peasant's house had been indicated to him, whence he would be conducted by the inmates to Trapani, about twenty miles distant.—London Standard.

DURING the past year France has had 7,572 suicides, one-fifth of them in and around Paris. Of these 1,975 were traced to mental aberration, 1,238 to physical suffering, and only 483 to want and fear of it. Domestic trouble and alcoholism were the chief moral causes. Disappointed love resulted in 200, and jealousy in 27.—Arkansaw Traveler.
